

ABSTRACT

Evolution in technology driving human to create new things including computer game, computer game is a game that only can play in a special device name computer, nowadays there is a lot of game like action game, racing and horror game.

The horror game is a game that can make people who play it will get scared so that give an adrenaline to user, nowadays a horror game growth fast and create a lot of genre in horror game like Action horror, Hide and Seek and Survival.

Therefore came an idea to create a new hide and seek horror game to provide a new entertainment for users especially horror game lovers. This game have an objective that player has to get out from a mental hospital and collect an evidence paper as much as player can find for knowing the story of this game.

This game will create by a game engine call unity3d, unity has a lot features for providing user to create this application, this engine has 3 programming language like C#, Javascript and Boo.