ABSTRACT

The development of social media, particularly Instagram, presents a great opportunity for MSMEs to build their image and closeness with consumers. However, the downward trend in engagement requires more creative strategies. This study examines how Teh Iketan utilizes entertainment content on Instagram @iketan.official as a digital marketing communication strategy. The primary objective of this study is to describe the types of entertainment content used, analyze the application of the AIDA model (Attention, Interest, Desire, Action), and identify the challenges faced in its implementation. The research methodology employs a descriptive qualitative approach, with data collection techniques including observation, interviews, and documentation. Data analysis was conducted using the Miles & Huberman interactive model. The results of the study show that Teh Iketan consistently uses entertainment content in the form of humorous videos, memes, and light storytelling to attract attention and build emotional closeness with the audience. The application of the AIDA model is clearly evident, where humor is able to attract attention, generate interest, and encourage interaction and purchasing decisions. The main challenge lies in the limitations of creative resources and the consistency of content production. In conclusion, the entertainment content strategy has proven effective in strengthening brand trust and engagement, and is relevant for SMEs to enhance their digital competitiveness. Further research is recommended to explore the quantitative impact of this strategy on consumer loyalty.
